

Who We Are

Clayton Early Learning is an innovation hub for early childhood development. We foster thriving, equitable communities by partnering with families to nurture a whole child, whole family approach to the early years, discover what works, and advance systems change. Clayton's 20-acre campus is the home of Colorado's only Educare school, a nationally recognized model supporting children from birth to age five and their families. We believe that healthy early childhood development offers one of the most powerful levers for ending inequality and Clayton plays a leadership role in demonstrating what's possible.

Our Values

We work to cultivate a community characterized by trust, dignity, love, and justice, with our children and families, our team members, and partners. At Clayton, we:

- Value diversity, equity, and inclusion as our foundation
- Operate with integrity
- Demonstrate bold humility
- Strive for excellence
- Innovate through collaboration

What Makes Clayton Stand Out?

We offer Head Start and Early Head Start programs that promote the school readiness of children from birth to age five from low-income families by enhancing their cognitive, social, and emotional development.

Our comprehensive programs for children and families encompass all aspects of wellbeing and learning, including social-emotional health, physical wellness, academic success, and family self-sufficiency.

“Head Start is different from other early education programs because there is a ‘whole child’ focus. Not only does it level the playing field academically, but Head Start addresses children’s emotional, psychological, nutritional, and social needs as well.”
